In attendance as a delegation before the Committee to provide an overview of the Surrey Art Gallery Association.

The following comments were made:

The Surrey Art Gallery Association (SAGA) was incorporated as a society in 1984 and partners with the Surrey Art Gallery to advance community engagement with the visual arts and to support contemporary artists. SAGA is a non-profit society that offers its members the opportunity to participate in and respond to contemporary art, and be part of a community that actively supports the Surrey Art Gallery. SAGA provides local artists with a venue and serves as an effective partner in fundraising.

• SAGA is a registered Canadian charity, is an active member of Canada 150, and is a licensed Surrey business. SAGA supports the policies and programs of the Surrey Art Gallery by promoting, advocating, building community connections, programming partnerships and fundraising.

The Committee suggested that SAGA improve their public relations and outreach to the community to improve the level of awareness. The delegation noted that SAGA is new to social media and is determined to improve their public relations.

The following comments were made:

- Libraries are the centre for sharing ideas and knowledge. It is the priority of Surrey Libraries to support makers and creators, strive for excellence in services, and engage and inspire the community.
- The Chief Librarian noted that libraries inspire people to become creators by offering innovative programs and services and support digital literacy needs of members through training and access to learning tools, and encourage a love of reading, learning, curiosity and imagination.
- It was noted that libraries are also used as community gathering spaces, art exhibitions, space for artists in residence, public art displays, venue for performing arts, place to create poetry, Maker showcases and meetups, and digital media resources. Biblioboard, a self-publishing website for local authors, and a digitalization station will be coming to Surrey Libraries in the near future.

2. Surrey City Centre Land Use Plan

P. Heer, Community Planning Manager, Planning & Development File: 6520-20

The following comments were made:

The City of Surrey is in the process of creating the Surrey City Centre plan.
 The Surrey City Centre is the centre of the geographic region of Metro Vancouver and hopes to become the twice the size of downtown Vancouver.

- The vision for City Centre is to transform from a suburban centre into a walkable high density, transit-oriented downtown. City Centre will be the centre for major employment, education, recreation and cultural activity linked by a green public network. It will be comprised of distinct neighbourhoods that are home to a diverse population.
- Guiding principles for the City Centre include building density and mixed use buildings, encouraging housing diversity, breaking up the block size, designing the roads for multiple modes of transportation, creating vibrant urban spaces, promoting identity and a sense of place, and making the downtown core green.
- The City Centre urban downtown will be vibrant, identifiable and have unique neighbourhoods and districts. It will promote identity and give residents and sense of place.
- The number of intersections will increase throughout the downtown core. The proposed roads and laneways will be achieved through redevelopment. The plan includes creating a greener City Centre that includes having parks within walking distance of all residential neighbourhoods and parks linked with a network of greenways and cycling lanes.
- The cultural corridor will help visualise the cultural landscape within downtown and will integrate, connect, and support key cultural facilities, activities and public art in the City Centre. Some Cultural Catalyst Projects include an entertainment district, performing arts and youth arts centre, and artists hubs.
