B. COMMITTEE REPORTS1. Introduction of New Director, Public Safety Strategies

The City Manager introduced Dr. Terry Waterhouse as our new Director of Public Safety Strategies and noted that today was his first day on the job. Dr. Waterhouse comes with a wealth of experience and is looking forward to working with staff and Council. The Mayor welcomed Dr. Waterhouse, stating that Council was looking forward to working with him.

2. Item No. P016 Strategic Performance Measures

The OIC reviewed the Strategic Performance Measures report to clarify and differentiate between the measures presented and police performance metrics further to the previous discussions at earlier Public Safety meetings. He noted that there are no broadly accepted standardized performance metrics for police service delivery, however work is underway at national and provincial levels. The metrics provided in this report provides the basis for annual strategic business planning and also assists in specific initiatives in line with community priorities. The graph is based on crimes per thousand of the population which equates to the crime rate; our goal is to do better.

Discussion followed with regard to concern that the basis of the measurement is still calculated on the statistics from the year previous and the goals for the year being shown as improvement by a percentage. A discussion ensued to support using the 5 year rolling average as this may be more reflective of actuals and every year the numbers should be going down. A 5 year average shows the trend and may show success in a better way. It is a different way of thinking. Concern was expressed that a rolling average may be more confusing and may not reflect peaks and valleys but just an overall trend and in some cases our statistics will show that we are below the trend so harder to set an annual targeted reduction.

Committee members stated that they would like more work on developing a criteria for measuring the service delivery; for example, do we have too many or not enough officers?

Councillor Gill requested division on the 3 recommendations put forward in the report.
