

Protecting the Future, Serving the Present

ArtForm Sculpture Studio

September 2009

Holland Park, northeast entrance at Old Yale Road

This bronze-coloured concrete sculpture was dedicated to the Surrey Firefighters in recognition of their contribution to the City over the past 50 years. It speaks of the spirit and diversity of firefighters, their efforts to safeguard our neighbourhoods and homes, and their charitable work, especially that directly benefiting youth in our community.

The firefighter depicted has been modeled after a serving member of the Surrey Fire Department. Of Korean descent, he represents not only the years of dedicated firemen but also the cultural and ethnic diversity that is one of the hallmarks of the City of Surrey.

About the Artists:

ArtForm Sculpture Studio is a collective team of artisans that conceptualized the artwork, sculpted, molded, cast and fine finished the statues. The team consists of Bill Johnson, Mike Snyder, Fred Dobbs and Derek Rowe. Each member of the team brought years of specialized skill and talent to create this detailed life size figurative work of art.
